

Dimitri Fischler

full version: bit.ly/DimCV

Professional experience

Payfone, New York, USA - Director, Risk and Product Management [November 2010 - present]

- Responsible for designing, building and perfecting the mobile payments startup's anti-fraud engine
- Managed reporting & analytics solution: portal and API to deliver actionable information of customers' conversion, sales and revenue performance, plus advanced invoicing, reconciliation and settlement
- Created first model to align company resources and ensure profitability when negotiating new deals
- Coordinated SS7 network integration with telecom industry partners to enable mobile bill charging

Google, London, UK - Senior Financial Analyst [April 2006 - November 2010]

- Promoted twice covering two different parts of hugely profitable online advertising business
- Part of deal team for groundbreaking industry-first BBC Youtube Content partnership
- Modelling high-value and strategic revenue-shared AdSense partnership deals across EMEA (e.g. Virgin Media, France Télécom and AOL (Google's earliest and principal partner))
- Revenue forecasting & sales quota setting, weekly and quarterly reporting to senior management
- Invented novel growth trends tool that feeds into major strategic organizational decisions
- One-year US assignment to expand my own projects for global audiences and lead new Finance team

Alcatel-Lucent, Namur, Belgium - Project Engineer [December 2003 - June 2004]

- Singly in charge of SMS service as part of project replacing KPN's mobile prepaid platform
- Implemented state-of-the-art network technologies and mobile solutions

Education

Ecole Polytechnique, Université Libre de Bruxelles, Brussels, Belgium - Ingénieur civil en informatique (Master degree in computer science and engineering) [September 1998 - October 2003]

- Grade awarded: Distinction (Final year overall average result: 78% (top 5% of class))
- Specific fields of study: computer graphics, computer vision, artificial intelligence
- Thesis: Theoretical analysis and C++ implementation of a method called Photon Mapping based on Monte Carlo sampling for creating photo-realistic images of virtual 3D models
- 6-month exchange program at Universitat Politècnica de Catalunya, Barcelona, Spain

Languages: French (mother tongue), English, Dutch, Spanish, Brazilian Portuguese and Hebrew

Computer literacy: sophisticated Excel user; experience with several programming languages, most notably C++, Python and R (stats); deep expertise of diverse databases and SQL

Sports: A-team soccer player for over 10 years; PADI Advanced Open Water Diver certificate holder (scuba diving); National junior ski championships participant for 4 years; Completed skydiving AFF course; Qigong, Yoga and Pilates practitioner; Amateur kitesurfer

Miscellaneous

- Multiple long adventurous solo backpacking trips in Latin America
- Founding member of private student investment club
- Reached 1998 final of Flemish national mathematics student contest
- Led youth movement comprising 500 youngsters at age 17, ran numerous winter and summer camps, attended and coordinated various international seminars

131 E 23rd St Apt 11B, New York, NY 10010 || dimfisch@gmail.com || +1 917 251 4011

Full and always up-to-date version of this resume available at <http://bit.ly/DimCV>

References upon request